Caroline Hopkinson '07 states that the values of the “golden rule” and faith were instilled in her at a young age by her family and her grammar school, St. Paul of the Cross. Resurrection College Prep was a perfect fit for high school and her senior Kairos retreat began to reveal her career passion. At Marquette University she pursued a degree in Political Science and Economics and even spent time in Washington DC as part of the Les Aspin Program where she worked on Capital Hill for the House of Representatives.

After college, Caroline began working for a Catholic publishing company writing articles about people who lived out their true vocation. During her time with Vision Vocation, she participated in a week-long service trip with the Sisters of St. Joseph. It was while on that trip she realized she needed to make a change which soon led her to become the Director of Youth Ministry at St. Paul of the Cross. Here Caroline began to see faith in action through service. “I knew teens in my community needed experiences to see the world differently, to feel challenged to make a difference in the lives of others.” Over the course of five years, Caroline took 12 service trips across the US working with many humanitarian organizations. Her teen service group accumulated over 12,000 hours of service in five years. Her work with teenagers led Caroline to pursue a Masters in Social Work, which she received in May 2017. Caroline currently works as a Social Worker at Raymond Ellis Elementary School in Round Lake. She also serves on the Resurrection College Prep High School Development Committee and has been an active alumna, participating in the annual Alumnae Career Days.

Caroline said she is humbled to receive the Blessed Celine Award and honored to be recognized by the Resurrection community for her work in ministry and service to others. “Compassion is not sympathy. Compassion is mercy. It is a commitment to take responsibility for the suffering of others.”

Vanessa’s passion stems from growing up through The Miracle Center’s (TMC) spectrum of art programs which inspired her to pursue an internship at the Center for Portuguese Language and Brazilian Cultural Studies. Bruna Morrison '83 was raised on Chicago’s Northwest side, where she attended Prussing Elementary, St. Constance, and Resurrection. During her time at Resurrection, Bruna was a member of Student Council, but her passion was always directed to working hard and helping support her family. Her parents, Tina and Umberto Borrini, both Italian immigrants, came to the United States in the 1950’s and were small business owners who are most remembered for opening Dino’s Pizza in 1968. Bruna and her older sister, Bianca, inherited their parents strong work ethic.

Bruna began working at the family restaurant in 7th grade and had a number of jobs before taking over the restaurant with her sister Bianca when their parents retired. Bruna dreamed of being a nurse, but her passion ultimately led her to becoming the incredible manager and community leader she is today. Dino’s Pizzeria proudly supports the neighborhood, hosting fundraisers and taking care of all the local schools on the Northwest Side of Chicago.

Her high school years at Resurrection made quite an impact on her, and she maintains long-lasting friendships with many of her classmates to this day. While at Resurrection, Bianca was involved in the Drama Club and performed in the school plays during her freshman and sophomore years. She was involved in Spanish Club and studied Spanish all four years of high school. Her years as a student are full of great memories.

Along with her sister Bruna, Bianca generously serves the Chicago area community through her dedication to the family business, Dino's Pizza and Italian Restaurant. Bianca began working at the family restaurant when she was 15 years old. She loved being around her parents and helping her mom in the kitchen. Her parents had another restaurant before Dino's, and she has memories of working alongside her family as young as age five.

Bianca has been married to her husband, Joe, for 41 years. They are the proud parents of Joey and Michelle. Joey carries on the family legacy and continues to be an integral part of running Dino's. Joey and his wife Natalie have two young daughters. This year, Dino's Pizza and Italian Restaurant proudly celebrates its 50th anniversary.
